Travel Health Information for International Travel

I. Purpose

Given the following, the purpose of this document is to provide guidance and recommendations for international travel health information:

• Department of State travel health information for international travel, including CDC's International Travel Health Notices.

- CDC's Traveler's Health Guide to International Travel, which lists key travel health topics, such as vaccination requirements, medical supplies, and currency.

Additional information on work, family, safety, security, and personal items can be found in the International Traveler's Checklist. This checklist includes information on vaccination requirements, medical supplies, currency, and travel documents, as well as tips for traveling abroad, including "What to Know Before You Go," "Traveling with Children," "Traveling with Pets," "Traveling with Money," "Traveling with Electronics," and "Traveling with Technology."

- CDC's Travel Health Notices. These notices are issued by CDC to alert the public to potential health threats in specific countries or regions. These notices also advise travelers to take steps to protect their health when visiting specific destinations. Travel Health Notices apply to all foreign countries, territories, and areas, including those without CDC travel alerts. International students and faculty are encouraged to review Travel Health Notices prior to travel to ensure they are aware of any potential health risks and how to protect themselves.
